Innovative methodologies for the next generation of higher education leaders

Drexel University's online Master of Science in Higher Education is designed to prepare a new generation of institutional leaders for careers in academia, non-profit foundations, government organizations, and more.

Students can cater the degree to their personal experience and career aspirations by choosing one of nine concentrations.

The Drexel MS in Higher Education features:

- The same School of Education faculty and curriculum as our on-campus programs
- A curriculum that emphasizes innovative methodologies that incorporate academic research with hands-on best practices
- An in-depth study of the link between universities and the communities they serve
- Courses designed to equip students with practical skills using the latest learning technologies, research, software applications, and management systems

Drexel University at a glance

Founded in 1891 in Philadelphia, Drexel is a comprehensive global research university ranked among the top 100 in the nation. Drexel continues to be recognized for its focus on experiential learning, commitment to cutting-edge academic technology, and a growing enterprise of use-inspired research.

Drexel University began offering online courses in 1996, a pioneer among institutions of higher education. Today, Drexel Online provides over 100 degrees and certificates in a multitude of fields to aspiring students everywhere. Utilizing the same rigorous academic standards, online programs are taught by the university's distinguished on-campus faculty.
