

Like No Other Open House

Nothing beats an open house with a great view—and ours is that bankers and buyers need the right venue to meet and make deals on reduced real estate listings.

Bankers will rent a table in our intimate open house room for the best environment to make connections with top investors from several areas of finance.

In this program, to be held October 6th from 7-9pm, DARE encourages its attendees to go beyond education to trade every business card, match properties with needs and get down to the kind of honest talk which can turn distressed properties into distinct opportunities.

This market can be turned around one deal at a time.

Fact: hedge funds, private investors and bulk buyers need to know the deals they can't find just anywhere.

At the same time, banks need relief from seemingly endless listings by connecting with an audience which understands the balancing act of distressed purchases.

This is not the time to be shy—it's time to network and negotiate past this industry's earlier disappointments.

DARE is here to help educate, but more importantly, facilitate.

Mark that Date.

Consider our open house speed dating for lonely properties—after all, every home deserves to be loved.
