Fruits Of The Sea

 Mar 21 2011 ECO

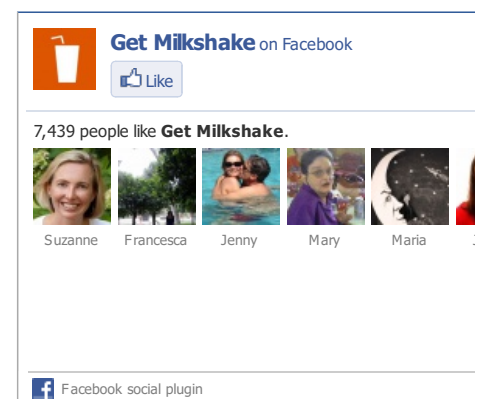

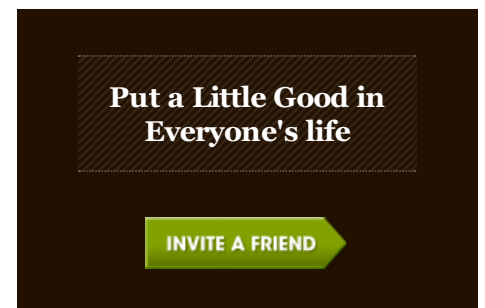

Did you also know that some of the best skin care is derived from the humble algae?

After soaking in a restorative algae bath in Argentina, OSEA founder Jenefer Palmer was inspired to learn more about the healing properties of seaweed. Her exhaustive search led her to the Sea of Patagonia where she discovered the Gigartina species, an algae known for its astoundingly high content of vitamins, minerals, amino acids and enzymes. This is the purest, cleanest type of seaweed available and OSEA works with a local partner to ensure eco-responsible hand-harvesting for their products.

The extensive skin care line covers every skin type as well as offering effective solutions for damaged skin. Packed with certified organic red algae extract, their moisturizing and gentle Ocean Cleanser is one of the company's bestselling items. The Sea Vitamin Boost is a wonderful, refreshing toner that contains organic Gigartina algae, pomegranate extract and red wine extract.

For serious skin nourishment the new Undaria Algae Oil is superb for dry, sun damaged and sensitive skin. The powerful Undaria algae is the main star of this non-greasy body oil. Not only does it smell wonderful, it's also loaded with acai, babassu, passion fruit, and sesame oils.

Since we can't all go to Tierra del Fuego for an algae fix, OSEA's collection is literally the next best thing for soft, glowing skin. It goes without saying, but all of their natural marine-based products are 100% free of synthetic fragrances, genetically modified ingredients, petrochemicals, parabens and sulfates. All products are also certified vegan and biodegradable. You can easily recycle their glass bottles after finishing these amazing lotions and potions.

Good for the earth, good for your skin. Get your sea vitamins today from OSEA!
