

<http://www.sun-sentinel.com/features/lifestyle/sfl-livdaysitesfeb13,0,2623112.story>

WEB SITES: Billionaire? Biker? Find your match

By Eyal Goldshmid
-- Eyal Goldshmid Special Correspondent

February 13, 2007

While most people equate the Internet dating scene with such high-profile destinations as Match.com, eHarmony.com and AmericanSingles.com, an influx of smaller sites and niche-market services cater to just about every possible taste.

Those looking to play the field without spending much cash should check out PlentyofFish.com. In addition to claiming to generate "300,000 relationships a year," the site does not charge visitors for its services.

People looking to improve their social status or income bracket should check out MillionaireMatch.com or Sugar Daddy.com. Not only do these sites emphasize the economic exclusivity of their membership (the latter's motto is "Start Interacting With the Most Desirable, Attractive and Wealthy People in Online Dating"), but the destinations go so far as to sort users by annual earnings.

On the opposite end of the spectrum are BikerKiss.com or BikerPassions.com, which try to unite people through their shared love of leather and chrome. In addition to the requisite singles site goodies, both offer dozens of chat rooms and forums for users to share their tales of the open road and mechanical skills.

Single animal lovers should give DateMyPet.com or LoveMeLoveMyPets.com a whirl. Both destinations aim to form meaningful bonds over each participant's love for his or her pet.

Copyright © 2007, South Florida Sun-Sentinel

Personal choice with freedom to explore.

Comcast.