

From styling classmates' hair in her home as a teenager to owning her own salon and working with celebrities such as Ester Dean, Michelle Williams and Toya Wright (to name a few), hair pro Dana Chane'l is transforming women all over New Orleans at her hot salon.

After Hurricane Katrina hit New Orleans in 2005 and destroyed Dana Chane'l's hair salon, the mane maven insisted she had no plans of opening another salon. But in 2007, a friend pointed out a building located on New Orleans' historical St. Charles Avenue. "I couldn't get my mind off that

Dana Chane'l Beauty Salon & Barber Studio

1218 Saint Charles Ave, New Orleans, LA 70130

¢45 and un

Champao/Pagio Ctylo

Shampou/basic Style $45 and up
Natural (no relaxer) $50 and up Relaxer (with deep condition and trim)$85 and up
Hair cut$25 and up
Color $75 and up

For more information, call Dana Chane'l Beauty Salon & Barber Studio at 504-309-8307

Extensions (sew-in)...... $250 and up building," Chane'l explains about her current salon location.

Chane'I's salon is the only African-American business on St. Charles Avenue, something the entrepreneur wasn't aware of until several months after she had been in business. "That's when I was like 'this is serious.' and I started appreciating it more and telling people about it. It's something I accomplished," she savs.

The 2,000-square-foot beauty features inspiring words and phrases.

PHOTOS: COURTESY OF DANA CHANE'I

DANA CHANE'L Beauty Salon &Barber Studio

BOLD TRANSFORMATIONS

IN NEW ORLEANS, LA

hot spot has a contemporary look that features a red, white and black color scheme. "It's very open and very fresh. It's friendly and professional. Everyone just meshes well together; it's just birthdays.

The hair pro also makes sure her clients are left in experienced. well-trained hands and that her stylists are passionate about hair. "I like for [stylists] to have "The most important thing is [stylists] need to be able to grow the hair. Some people are born for this and others are taught. I'd rather have the [stylists] who are born with it."

perfect," shares Chane'l.

Clients can expect a number of perks when they walk into the salon, including bottled water and popcorn. "We run contests and raffles. We do a lot on the radio. so customers can buy coupons from the radio station," explains Chane'l. And the salon staff even celebrates clients'

a clientele. They need to have a lot of educational background behind them," she explains. "The most important thing is they need to be able to grow the hair. Some people are born for this and others are taught. I'd rather have the [stylists] who are born with it."

Looking to the future, Chane'l says she wants to keep the location forever. "I do want to branch out and maybe open a couple of other locations, but this will always be my main location since this is where I started from, on this different path, since [Hurricane] Katrina." SBH